Price $1.00 - Olympic Hybrid Lilies

Now! IS THE TIME . . .

to prepare for a glorious spring garden. October is the best month for planting all types of bulbs for spring flowers: Daffodils, Tulips, Hyacinths, Dutch Iris, Anemones, Ranunculus and many others. For an extra special garden treat, plant some of the exciting new lilies grown at the Oregon

Bulb Farms by Jan de Graaff.

See our new Fall Planting Guide for descriptions, pictures and planting instructions for all bulbs.

From the mountains of China new, exotic lilies were collected which, cross-bred and hybridized by JAN DE GRAAFF, famed Oregon lily grower, gave us the magnificent strain of

Olympic HYBRID Lilies

for your garden. Giant plants, standing six feet or more tall when fully grown, they will do well in any well-drained, porous and good garden soil, in full sun or in light shade. They will continue to flower year after year. Plant three to four inches deep. They will flower in June.

Delightfully fragrant, vigorous and disease-resistant, they are a new experience for California gardens. They have been tested by Sunset magazine; they were described in the Saturday Evening Post on October 15th of last year; they have been featured in all leading garden magazines and have made a grand showing wherever tested. Don't deny yourself this gardening thrill. Make use of this unique opportunity to buy them at these low prices:

Each, 30 cents; Three for 85 cents

Six for only $1.50
